John Bunyan Primary School & Nursery

Friday 5th February, 2021

This week staff in school have been participating in community lateral flow testing every 3-4 days, which is helping to keep infection rates down in school and in the community.

It has been fabulous to see the pupils online and we have seen some lovely art work – please make sure you bring it in when we all come back to school.
Stay safe and have a good weekend.

Wednesday this week saw the very sad passing of Captain Sir Tom Moore. Many of our children sent him birthday cards for his 100th birthday last year and he was the topic of much conversation amongst the children in school this week. His resilience and inspiration was certainly something that struck us all through this pandemic and indeed he gave us all hope with his important phrase 'Tomorrow will be a good day'. The children have asked if they could do something to mark his passing and are currently gathering ideas. Walking 100 laps of the playground, going up and down stairs 100 times, reading 100 poems were a few initial ideas. Next week teachers will be asking their classes for ideas and we will then put together our 100 challenge list.
